

The State of the CASE of several of the Inhabitants of the Kingdom of Ireland, who furnish'd the Army, in the late War, with Provisions, and other Necessaries, and whose Debts are Adjusted by Commissioners appointed for that purpose under the Great Seal of England, and which remain unpaid.

THAT in the Year 1689 their late Majesties order'd, That the English Army, then in that Kingdom, should be furnish'd with such Necessaries as they had occasion for, by the Inhabitants amongst whom they were quartered, without paying ready Money for the same. And that the Debts they should so contract, should be stopt out of their Pay, and be paid to the said Inhabitants.

That the said Inhabitants, did accordingly supply the said Army, not only with Provisions, and other Necessaries, both in Quarters, and in the Camp, at very small Rates, but also with all sorts of Merchandize which they had occasion for, and many of them Contracted great Debts to render themselves capable of providing such Necessaries for the said Army, not doubting the same would have been paid in some short time thereafter.

That the said Army, pursuant to their Majesties Orders, gave the said Inhabitants Assignments on their Pay.

That the said Debts might be Ascertained, and the Country be paid, their Majesties were afterwards graciously pleas'd to appoint Commissioners to State the Accounts thereof between the Army and the Country, which being by them accordingly stated, an Account of that Charge was transmitted to England, the said Army being then on the English Establishment; and the same was stopt out of the Arrears of Pay due to the several Regiments that had so Contracted the said Debts, as by their Abstracts, and the Pay-Master General's Books, may appear.

The said Inhabitants therefore humbly pray, That there may be a Clause incerted in the Act, Appointing Commissioners to State and Determine the Arrears due to the Army, &c. Impowering them to State the said Inhabitants Accounts, and to issue Certificates for Debentures accordingly.

The Case of several of the Inhabitants of Ire- land, who Furnish'd the Army with Provisions, and are yet Unpaid.